INTERIM & PROJECT MANAGEMENT IN CHINA

Let executives steer your China business “on-demand”

Getting the right managers in or to China has become a prolonged and unplannable challenge for foreign companies in China. Even after most of China’s COVID related travel restrictions and quarantine requirements have been lifted, the nearly 3 year long isolation has lead to a shortage and placement backlog of qualified management personnel and also to additional governance problems. In order to secure business success and continuity in China, there has been a sharp rise in the demand for temporary managers to swiftly execute necessary interventions or to bridge temporary vacant executive positions. This situation is complicated by the growing reluctance of HQ personnel to move to China for prolonged periods of time.

In autumn 2021, 43% of surveyed VDMA member companies indicated that the difficulty of getting foreign executives and managers into the country is impacting their business negatively. In a similar study conducted by the global German Chamber network, up to 85% of enterprises are facing the same challenge – making it the No. 1 concern of MNCs operating in China overall.

EAC China is offering temporary solutions and access to executives in China – be it for C-Suite interims engagements or for on the ground project management support.
